REPORT

OF THE

COMPTROLLER OF THE TREASURY

OF THE

STATE OF MARYLAND.

COMPTROLLER'S OFFICE,
TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
Annapolis, Md., Jan. 3rd, 1884.

To the Honorable the General Assembly of Maryland:

I respectfully submit my Sixth Annual Report of the transactions of the Treasury Department. The Statements and Tables, to be found in the Appendix, set forth in detail these transactions, during the fiscal year ended on the 30th day of September, 1883. My official relations to this department will terminate in a few days, and this being my final report, a brief review of the fiscal affairs of the State, during the six years that I have been Comptroller, naturally suggests itself.

The balance in the treasury proper, at the close of the last year, was $982,183.52. To this should be added the cash to the credit of the "Free School Fund," $4,720.47; and to the credit of the "Sinking Funds" $13,858.66; making the total amount in the treasury, in cash, $1,000,762.65.

When I assumed the duties of this office, on the 22nd day of January, 1878, the entire balance in the treasury was the sum of $44,240.98. The treasury had encountered a heavy loss to its revenue on account of the failure of accustomed receipts, over which my predecessor had no control. Notwithstanding this, the obligations of the State had been promptly met, and the credit of the State fully maintained.

The embarrassments under which the financial officers have been almost continuously laboring in maintaining these results, were freely made known in my first report to Governor Carroll. The error in the financial legislation of this State, I beg leave to suggest, consists in requiring a direct tax to be levied for the benefit of her bondholders, who are already sufficiently secured, and in not making any certain or adequate provision for her other creditors.

The receipts during last year were derived from the ordinary sources of revenue, and amounted to $2,097,376.88. The sum realized from like sources in the year 1878, was $1,623,643.23, showing an increase in favor of the year 1883, of $473,733.65. There has been since the year 1878, a regular and steady improvement in the revenues, which if fostered and continued, will enable the treasury officers, in the future, to redeem at par, considerable sums of the debts of the State, as they respectively become due.

The funded debts of the State, their respective rates of interest and their respective dates of maturity, are shown in "Statement J." They amounted, in the aggregate, on the 30th of September last, to $11,269,822.89.

The "Maryland Defense Loan" of $3,326,750.66, matured on the 1st day of January, 1884. In my report to the Legislature of 1880, I called attention to this loan, and to the opportunity which its maturity would afford of refunding three millions of the State's indebtedness, bearing six per cent. interest, at a much lower rate. The Legislatures of 1880, and of 1882, each, readily passed laws to that end; and I am able to state that the refunding of $3,000,000 of the 6 per cent. "Defense Loan" into the new $3,000,000 "Defense Redemption Loan" authorized by the Act of 1882, Chapter 289, at the rate of 3.65 per cent., is an accomplished fact, and reduces the interest on the public debt $70,500 per annum. The balance of this loan, $326,750.66, was called in on the first of January, and a further saving of $19,605.03 in annual interest effected. The new loan of $3,000,000 will be redeemable in fifteen years from the first of this January.

The "Sinking Funds" hold $411,209.18 of State securities practically redeemed. The remainder of the State debts, $7,531,863.05, will mature during the next decade. No provision, either in law or in fact, has been made for the payment of $6,753,072.23 of these debts, other than the dedication by the Constitution of the State's interests in works of internal improvement to that purpose. This provision is ample, if availed of, but the present policy of the State, which has just been so successfully carried out with reference to the "Defense Loan," is to reserve these securities and to refund these debts as they become due, at a lower rate of interest. Should the prevailing low rate of interest continue, it will be wise to adhere to this policy, and to that end, I respectfully recommend the passage of a general law authorizing and empowering the Governor, Comptroller and Treasurer, to issue new loans from time to time, at a lower rate of interest, for the redemption of the old debts as they mature. It is believed, that the successful continuance of this policy, in connection with the reduction of each debt as it becomes due, to the extent to which the surplus revenue can be made available, will, ultimately, and perhaps, at no far distant day, relieve the people of any necessity for direct taxation for State purposes.

The disbursements during last year were $1,753,699,99. The disbursements in the year 1879, the first off-year of my tenure, after the session of the Legislature of 1878, were $1,774,283.26. In the off-year, 1881, they were $1,757,-469.15. This comparison shows no very great decrease in the ordinary expenditures of the off-years. The disbursements in the year 1882 were $2,038,173.13, of this amount there was expended and invested in "Sinking Funds" the sum of $208,114.40. The disbursements in the year 1880, were $2,050,869.40, of which $59,633.06 were invested in the "Sinking Funds." The disbursements in the year 1878 were $2,489,079.14, of which $193,646.46 were expended in the redemption of State stock, and $125,000.00 in taking up a temporary loan. The expenses of the riots amounting to $90,440.00, were paid in that year. This comparison of the legislative years, shows a greater decrease in the ordinary expenditures of these years than of the off years. It is to be noted that there has been considerable retrenchment by legislative enactments during this time. The pension laws, under which about thirty thousand dollars were annually drawn from the treasury, were repealed in 1878. A law was passed the same year, reducing the salaries of the tobacco inspectors and their employees, and abolishing the office of supervisor of tobacco warehouses after the first of April, 1880. In 1880 the bounty laws were repealed, and the treasury relieved of this indefinite annual drain; and in the same year, the salaries of the Adjutant General and of all the officers and employees of the State fishery force were reduced. In 1882, the legislative expenses were considerably curtailed. The registration law, of that year, however imposed a cost of about fifty thousand dollars upon the State treasury.

The revenues of the State are regarded as established upon a reliable and improved basis, and it is to be hoped, that the expenditures can be kept within such limits, as to afford a large and increasing surplus for the reduction at par, of the State debts now rapidly becoming due. The saving, thereby, of heavy premiums, incident to investments in the Sinking Fund, is a matter worthy of attention.

The inequality of taxation, and especially of the system by which direct taxes are imposed, is attracting anxious attention, and the increased and increasing amount of superabundant wealth persistently kept from view, but confirms me in the belief, expressed to the Legislature of 1880, that "not until every person holding property, shall be required to go once a year to the assessor to be taxed, according to his actual worth, will taxation be equalized and its burdens be imposed so as to fall lightly on the many, rather than heavily on the few." This is a broad and fertile field for reform cultivation.

In 1878, a "Treasury Relief Loan" of $500,000 was authorized and issued, and, as required by the Constitution, and provided by the Act of Assembly authorizing the loan, an annual tax of 1½ per cent. on the taxable property of the State, is levied for the payment of interest on the loan, and for investment in a sinking fund for the redemption of the principal debt. Previous to 1879, no "Special Sinking Fund" had ever been established. In that year, the treasury officers determined, that to the extent of their ability, they would create and maintain such a Sinking Fund, with the receipts from this tax, and dedicate it to the purposes for which it was intended. Since then, State bonds have been purchased and placed to the credit of this fund, to the amount of $220,703.34, covering, after deducting the interest paid on the loan the receipts from this tax. The amount paid in premiums to obtain these investments was $22,786.62.

The deposits to the credit of the General Sinking Fund, have also been increased since 1878, from $125,895.84 to $190,505.84, and $75,000 of the new "Defense Redemption Loan" of 1884, has been taken for that fund.

The $366,000.00 bonds of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, received in July, 1878, in the settlement made with that company under the Act of 1878, Chapter 155, have been retained and placed among the productive assets of the State.

The bonds and mortgages of the Susquehanna and Tide Water Canal, are in arrears to the State in interest, $354,000. The Reading Railroad Company has had, for a number of years, possession of these canals under a lease from the canal companies, in which the road assumed to pay to the State her annual interest on these mortgages. The principal of the debt is $1,000,000.00. President Gowan, of the Reading Road, has recently had some correspondence with the treasurer of the State, and will, probably, confer with the Legislature at its present session, with reference to these arrearages, and the future management of this canal.

It is to be hoped, that some arrangement will be made, which will secure to the Treasury, a more certain revenue from these large securities. Negotiations have been going on to that end, ever since I have been Comptroller, and nothing definite yet attained, but a late conference between the Board of Public Works and the counsel of the Reading Railroad Company, affords good reason to believe that the Reading Company as the lessee of this canal and the Board of Public Works will propose to your Honorable Body a method of adjusting these securities, which will be feasible and will result in making them again productive.

The State tax levied upon the assessed value of property in 1883, was $873,917.58, of which there had been paid into the treasury at the end of the fiscal year, $505,217.92, leaving an unpaid balance on that year's levy of $368,699.66. The receipts from collectors for previous years were $387,104.92, and the balance in their hands unpaid was $486,644.34. The entire amount in the hands of collectors, unaccounted for, is $855,344.00, and though this sum is $295,062.45 less than it was in 1878, these constant recurring large balances uncollected, prompt me to repeat to this General Assembly the views I expressed to the Legislature of 1880, in regard to the prompt collection of this important source of revenue:

"Ample and summary legal proceedings and remedies are already provided, for the prompt enforcement and collection of these taxes. The difficulty is not the want of more law—there is too much already upon these points, and some of it so severe, that it is seldom or ever enforced. The trouble, I take it, is that there are too many agents or instrumentalities, to whom and through whom the State must look for this branch of its revenue. In most of the counties the tax collector is multiplied into as many as there are election districts, and active partisans are selected to exact this unwilling debt from neighbors and friends. In the city and in those counties where there is but one collector, there is almost invariably some especial immunity or privilege conferred upon the office by local law. Promptness in the collection of momey, especially where the debt is, as in the case of a tax, often unwilling, depends upon the readiness and determination manifested by the agent to resort to the remedies provided to that end. It is the real purpose to resort to legal remedies, rather than indulgence at first and threats afterwards, put into practice here and there, that makes people prompt in the payment of money.

"The plan of making the collection of the State tax independent of the collection of the municipal or county tax, and of assigning large districts to each collector, and of subjecting the collector to removal at the will of the Comptroller, and of imposing a fine to operate periodically upon the tardy tax-payer, being the opposite of the present plan, might work opposite and more satisfactory results. I submit it to the consideration of the General Assembly.

"In some of the States the State levy is imposed upon and apportioned among the municipalities, and they are required to see to its collection, and are held directly responsible for its payment. This plan works well, notably in Massachusetts. There may be some hesitancy in inaugurating this system in this State, as great complaint is already heard, among the people, in regard to the municipal management of taxation, and the priority of payment to the State, which the system imposes, may render it unpopular. As, however, its efficacy has been demonstrated elsewhere, that should commend it to consideration here."

A correspondence with the State's Attorneys, in those counties of the State where these claims have been long outstanding, discloses that the most of them are insolvent, and in Baltimore City where they amount to $337,054.89, and are transferred to each succeeding collector, and where the collections of recent years have been prompt, they are diminished but little.

The receipts from the gross receipt tax on railroads, were $43,364.46, and from the direct tax on other incorporated institutions, $63,811.07, aggregating $107,175.53. Corporations are the creatures of the State, and proverbially wealthy; but the taxes they pay, for the support of the government, which fosters and protects them, are far short of being commensurate to the wealth they embody.

In 1878, the office of Tax Commissioner was created, and the especial duty of assessing corporations assigned to it. Since then, their assessable basis has been considerably enlarged, but much legislation is needed to place them within the sphere of equalized taxation. I recommend, that the assessment of railroad companies be transferred to that department, where it properly belongs. This duty now devolves upon the comptroller, who was not intended to be made an assessing officer. (See Constitution, Article 6, section 2.)

The gross receipts from the tobacco warehouses, were $91,546.29, and their expenses, $74,251.49, leaving their net earnings, $17,294.80, out of which, deduct the salaries paid to the five inspectors, $9,000, and the balance of $8,294.80, remains an increment to the treasury. This is an improvement upon former years.

The receipts of the "Oyster Fund" were $56,075.32, the disbursements, including $12,500 paid for the steamer, "Governor Hamilton," were $54,114.13, leaving an increment to this fund, of $1,961.19. There was to the credit of this fund, $239,946.40, which is included in the balance in the treasury proper.

The levy for public schools was $466,089.38; the disbursements were $468,970.17; the receipts were $516,004.79 and in excess of the levy, $49,915.41. The distribution in June, was less than I have been in the habit of making, but it is hoped, at this writing, there will be enough of this tax in hand on the first of January, to enable me to equalize the June with the other distributions, and to retain a sufficient sum to equalize future distributions, as directed by the Act of 1878, chapter 91.

I have endeavored to discharge, faithfully and without fear or favor, the delicate and responsible duties of the trust, to which I have been called for three consecutive terms, in the face of criticisms, which have been freely made in regard to the operations of this department for the last twenty years, and which have been attempted to be severely visited upon the present management. Every warrant for the payment of money, names the Act of Assembly under which it was issued—every voucher is preserved—every letter received is on file, and every letter written is copied in a letter-book. I owe much of this record to the efficient clerks who have labored with me in this service; and I cheerfully commit it to the keeping of the honorable gentleman who has been elected to be my successor, and whose ability and large experience in the discharge of public duties eminently qualify him for his arduous task.

Your obedient servant,

THOS. J. KEATING,
Comptroller.
